

AMORY CALLS JEROME "DANGEROUS CRIMINAL"

Former Secretary of Third Avenue Road
Explains Demand for Removal of District
Attorney from Office.

"Jerome will be removed from the office of District Attorney," said Mr. Amory, "because he is a dangerous criminal." The former secretary of the Third Avenue Railroad Company has been campaigning on the trail of the District Attorney ever since Jerome refused to prosecute the officials of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, after getting him to prepare certain information concerning the road.

"First of all, I want to say that this is no muck-rack movement," continued the man who has sworn to down Jerome. Mr. Amory was seated in the parlor of his home on the third floor of No. 230 West Seventy-sixth street.

"It is a fight to the bitter end between myself and this so-called District Attorney. I may say that it never occurred to me to expose Metropolitan wrongdoing until Mr. Jerome invited me to do so. We were friends at that time, so I undertook the matter in good faith. But Jerome desert me at the critical moment in the case, thereby acquiescing in the ruin of the man who had been his friend and ally. He betrayed me and sought to ruin my reputation. I then resolved never to abandon the undertaking of proving the truth about William Travers Jerome and the Metropolitan."

"The gentlemen who are associated with me in the prosecution of the charges met together for the first time at my office, No. 27 William street, on June 4, when their signatures were given to the document, which I placed in the hands of the Governor's secretary, Frank Perley, on Wednesday. Mr. Baker I did not know before he came to my office. Mr. White formerly was an office with me at No. 3 William street, and I know him to be an honorable, upright man. Mr. Dwight, a relative of the late Jonathan Dwight, is another personal friend of mine. Mr. Hurley, both a competent public defender and a man of high character, who have watched with amazement the zig-zag course of Jerome."

Calls Jerome a Criminal.

"What is the precise purpose of these charges?" was asked.

"To get the most dangerous criminal in the State removed from office," replied Mr. Amory without a tremor or an eyelash. "Jerome is a more dangerous man than any criminal in prison. He is pursuing a policy of lawlessness and always leading the big criminals of finance go scott free. It has become a public scandal, and it is time that somebody acted."

"You refer to—"

"The public knows them well," interrupted the foe of the District Attorney. "I shall not mince words—I mean the shipbuilding swindlers, the men high up responsible for the Park avenue tunnel disaster, the insurance thieves, the Metropolitan rascals and the inter-borough rogues. If Lawyer Hummel was guilty in the Dodge-Morse mess, then equally guilty were the men who put up the money. Just look at the evidence of Jerome's guilt—it is a long list."

Mr. Amory said that the charges before being taken to Albany had been submitted to various lawyers and pronounced sound in every particular. "The offenses of far less magnitude than we charge against Jerome," Mr. Roosevelt put Col. Asa Hall Gardner out of office," he concluded. "I consider the strongest accusation we make against Jerome is the purchase of immunity by the agents and lawyers of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company and the New York Life Insurance Company through their contribution of $50,000 to the campaign fund last fall. His total fund from the corporations was $120,000, but we can prove that $50,000 came from the sources that I have named."

Jerome Critic a Student.

Chairman Dwight, one of the signers of the charges, is a retired Wall street broker, and his friends say a philosopher. He is content to enjoy a modest income in a second floor front room of an old-style apartment flat-house on No. 244 Broadway. Dwight signed a large portion of his time in the reading room of the Columbia University library.

"I signed the charges because I know that Jerome is not fit to hold office,"

Mr. Amory said.

A 10-Story House!

A residence that measures to stories from cellar to roof would be a very tall building. There are many "10-story" houses in and around New York—not 10 stories in height, but houses about 10 stories in "stories" of "chained hands" might be told. Each SUCH "story" raises the "price" instead of the altitude.

Only the "first" story has been told about many of the beautiful new homes offered for sale daily through World-War Directory. They are all in great and, and each future sale will drive their prices higher and higher.

To Their Owners' Profit.

HEADLESS BODY OF WOMAN IN THE RIVER.

Mutilation from Some Passing Vessel, Declare the Police After Investigation.

The body of an unknown woman, apparently dead for many days, was taken from the East River at Twenty-second street today by policemen of the East Tenth-second street station. It was terribly decomposed, and Capt. Hoxsey said the coroner's examination would have to determine whether the woman was dead before she struck the water.

The body was thrown to the surface by a Swedish line tugboat. With the exception of a black skirt waist and a pair of shoes, the body was nude. For some time the police had been looking for the body of the woman who was struck by a vessel.

Police Saved Motorman From Crowd

Were Beating Him When Reserves from Bronx Station Arrived.

Coroner McDonald today will investigate the death of seven-year-old Louis Oserof, of No. 147 Webster avenue, the boy who was killed by a Mount Vernon car while he was playing "Follow the Leader" in front of his home last night. The motorman, John Nuvent, who was saved from the hands of a mob only after the reserves of two police stations had been called out, was assigned to-day in the Westchester Court. The parents of the boy are prostrated with grief.

TELLS JURY HOW WIFE WAS SLAIN

Aged August Hoebfer Testifies at the Trial of "Brute" McPartland.

The trial of "Shirley the Brute" McPartland, who is charged with assaulting and strangling to death Mrs. Lena Hoebfer, was continued today before Judge Foster in General Sessions.

Broken in mind and body, old August Hoebfer, the father of the victim, testified to the jury that his wife was killed by the brute on May 12, when the steady knocking came at the door of their little flat in the demolished house at No. 235 East Seventy-fifth street. The little man, crippled with paralysis, sobbed pitifully all through his testimony. He refused to look at the hulking figure with the bald head and the wolf's eyes just behind the rail, who had turned against his wife and himself.

Assistant District Attorney Train conducted the case for the people, while ex-Judge George M. Curtiss acted for the accused.

At the rear of the room stood the wife and two children of the accused. They were attentive listeners to the evidence.

Well, he had beaten McPartland with all his power. Then he ran to the door and called for help. He was always so careful of his wife. He was always so careful of his wife. He was always so careful of his wife.
